SCENES OF HORROR IN SANTA MARIA REGION

DEVASTATED AREA IS TWENTY MILES SQUARE

3-DAY ERUPTION OF GUATEMALAN "VESUVIUS" TOOK 300 LIVES

MANY SETTLERS WERE ASLEEP WHEN OVERCOME BY LAVA RIVERS OF DEATH

Guatemala City, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The belching crater of Santa Maria volcano was quiet today, but from a devastated area 20 miles square about its base searchers returned with stories of horror that rivalled the tales of the destruction of the ancient city of Pompeii.

Nearly a week has passed since Santa Maria, quiet for 27 years, broke forth in a three-day eruption which is unofficially estimated to have taken a toll of at least 300 lives. Many more lie in crowded hospitals, burned and mangled by the falling stones and gushing molten lava of the "Vesuvius" of Guatemala.

It was 9:30 P. M. Saturday when deep subterranean rumblings broke through the quiet of the coffee plantations and interrupted the week-end merry-making of the plantation settlers. The roar gathered in intensity, enveloping the southern slopes and within a few minutes, ashes, burning sand and stones began falling over a region 100 miles square.

Streams of lava gushed over the crater's edge, rushing down the volcano's slope through old clefts and forming into rivers of death as the smaller streams combined in the wide crevices of the volcano's side.

Many of the settlers were asleep. Many were victims of the intense heat, others choked to death in the poisonous fumes, the dust laden atmosphere made worse by steam from a light rain which fell over the molten lava.

Humans, plants and animals fared alike. Some who sought to escape found their way cut off in every direction by the onrushing lava and died in their tracks.

Hours afterward, the first few searching parties penetrated the stricken area. The scene was one of horror. Whole families were found in their huts, their arms locked in embrace where they had prayerfully awaited certain death. Other groups were found in the fields. Some bodies were mangled, others were charred beyond recognition and buried in the lava.

Houses and sheds and the large homes of the principal coffee plantations were destroyed. The wreckage in places was covered by lava and ashes.

On the dressing table of one bedroom, searchers found a thermometer the mercury of which had risen to the top in the intense heat.

A band of marimba players were found in a huddle, their instruments beside them and their dead hands still holding the pins with which they strummed their instruments. The group of merrymakers resembled mummies.

The only living thing in a settlement of 25 people was a tiny girl who was found in the embrace of her dead mother. The child was taken to a hospital and laid beside scores of others who had escaped before they were trapped by the encircling rivers of lava.

The searchers still were attempting to find a group of men, women and children, sighted by an aviator yesterday on a high mount, surrounded by lava which was flowing all about them.

Catania, Sicily, Nov. 8.—Steam issuing from fissures in the earth near the main crater of Mount Etna will be used this winter to supply the central heating plant of the Volcobological Observatory on the higher slopes of the mountain, Professor Gaetano Ponte, director of the Etna observatory, said today.

Two other projects are being planned to harness the destructive forces of Mount Etna. One scheme contemplates making extended use of the steam power concentrated in the volcano while another proposes to build windmills on the summit where there is practically always a steady wind pressure.

PRINCESS VICTORIA IS GRAVELY ILL

Bohn, Germany, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The condition of Princess Victoria, sister of the former kaiser and wife of Alexander Zoubkoff, was reported improved today although she was still gravely ill.

The nature of the princess' illness was not fully determined, her physicians announced. She was stricken suddenly Wednesday and taken to a hospital.

Bad Weather Checks Flight of MacAlpine Party

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The four airplanes bringing Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine and his geologists back to civilization were held at Bathurst today by unfavorable weather. They will take off for Baker Lake as soon as possible.

SWISS ENGINEER SUGGESTS BRIDGING ENGLISH CHANNEL

London, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—A vast double dam across the English channel between Deal, England, and Callais, France, carrying two railway tracks, an automobile road and providing a ship canal, has been suggested by Jules Jaeger, Swiss engineer, as a substitute for the proposed underground channel tunnel.

The government in a statement Wednesday denied a report that the proposed channel tunnel had been abandoned as impractical at the present.

Jaeger's scheme would cost approximately $400,000,000 while the cost of buiding the tunnel has been put at $150,000,000.

2 MOTHERS SUE RADIUM CO. FOR $200,000 EACH

CLAIM THEY WERE POISONED BY RADIUM WHILE IN CORPORATION'S EMPLOY

IF ALLEGED POISON IS FOUND OF PRE-NATAL INFLUENCE, WILL SUE FOR CHILDREN

Newark, N. J., Nov. 8.—(U.P.) — Two mothers who are suing the United States Radium Corporation for $200,000 each on the grounds they were poisoned by radium while in the company's employ, awaited today the physicians' reports on the origin of radioactivity discovered in their children.

Physicians are yet undecided whether the children contracted the dreaded radium poisoning before or after birth. If the verdict should be that it was pre-natal, the mothers, Mrs. Helen Puck of Red Bank and Mrs. Ethelwynne Metz, Newark, will bring suit in behalf of their three children. This was revealed yesterday when Henry Winan, attorney for Mrs. Metz, appeared before Federal Judge William Clark and asked that the cases of the two women be set in November.

Dr. Amos L. Fillipone of Newark, who examined the three children — Harold Puck, 2; Walter Puck, 6, and Edward Metz, Jr., 6—is inclined to believe the youngsters were poisoned before birth.

Dr. S. D. Flynn of the industrial hygiene department, Columbia University, said the bodies of the three children show traces of radio activity.

Mrs. Puck and Mrs. Metz assert they worked for the Radium Corporation in 1919 and contracted the poisoning as did five other women by "pointing" brushes with their lips while painting luminous watch dials.

HOLIDAY DEATHS FROM "POISON BOOZE" TO BE FEW

AUTHORITIES PREVENT CONVERTING DENATURED ALCOHOL INTO LIQUOR

65 DENATURING FORMULAS ARE NOW IN USE BY TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Washington, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Holiday deaths from "poison booze" are to be few during the approaching Christmas season, it was officially predicted today.

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran gave assurance the treasury has eliminated almost completely the possibility of bootleggers converting denatured alcohol into drinkable liquor.

The 65 denaturing formulas now in use by the treasury, Doran explained, make it extremely difficult for bootleggers to redistill the alcohol into a palatable product. For more than six months, he added, the treasury has experienced no trouble from this source.

"Of course," Doran said, "some merry makers always drink too much or get hold of some wood alcohol, but we have perfect assurance that very little industrial alcohol which has been denatured by government chemists ever will reach the public."

More than 1,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol is produced each year by the 60 alcohol plants in this country.

Half of this was used in anti-freeze solutions for automobile radiators.

The remainder is divided among 4,000 manufacturers of chemical and commercial products. Wood alcohol is not under supervision of the federal government, but comes within provisions of state laws.

Hoover Seeking Some Means to Broaden Naval Parley to Include Taking Up Freedom of Seas

NEWS OF THIS DEVELOPMENT CURRENT TODAY

FOLLOWS HOUR'S CONFERENCE BETWEEN CHIEF EXECUTIVE AND SECY. OF STATE

AMBASSADOR DAWES HAS BEEN MADE ACQUAINTED WITH VIEWS EXPRESSED

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 8. — President Hoover is seeking some means of broadening the London naval conference to include discussion of freedom of the seas, it was learned today.

News of this development in the naval conference preparations drifted to diplomatic circles today following an hour's conference at the White House between the chief executive and Secretary of State Stimson.

Ambassador Dawes, who sails tonight from New York to return to his post in London, has been acquainted with the president's views on the entire question of the war-time law of the sea. The understanding in official circles is that Dawes will present the United States' views to the British government informally. If a formula can be found which will bring the two governments to a general understanding on the subject the way will be paved for drawing specific recommendations to the London conference for the restatement of the laws of blockade, search and seizure and the rights of neutrals.

President Hoover canvassed every phase of this problem in his conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald during the White House conferences last month. Although no formula for presenting the problem at the London conference could be found at that time, the free exchange of views left President Hover hopeful that way could be found to bring the question up for early consideration.

Prime Minister MacDonald is regarded here as disposed to support any plan for discussion of freedom-of-the-seas, which will assure the security of the British empire.

Schoolmates Cheer as Boy is Freed of Murder Charge

Los Angeles, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Schoolmates cheered and his mother collapsed in municipal court here late yesterday when James William Davidson, 20, was freed of a murder charge instituted after he killed his father to protect his mother during a family quarrel. Judge Thomas Ambrose said that, in his opinion, no jury would convict the boy.

Pretty Memphis Girl Auto Racer Put on Probation

Chicago, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Joan La Coste, pretty Memphis auto racer who was convicted of assault with attempt to rob, was put on probation today when she appeared before Judge Joseph B. David for sentence.

WHITE RUSSIANS KIDNAP AMERICAN, WANT HUGE RANSOM

Tientsin, China, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Aaron Brenner, a partner in Brenner Brothers, New York, has been kidnaped and held for ransom.

The kidnapers, who were believed to be white Russians, demanded $500,000 gold.

NEW DIAL PHONE HAS BEEN EVOLVED

A NEARLY HUMAN AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE DEMONSTRATED IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 8.—(U.P.) — A dial telephone that speaks although not spoken to has been evolved by engineers of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The nearly human automatic telephone was demonstrated by Sergius P. Grave, assistant vice president of the laboratories.

There is no difference in the appearance of the subscriber's phone. After the numbers and letters are dialed as at present, the operator in the exchange will hear the number and exchange spoken with perfect articulation and tone quality.

Grace explained that an Irish girl with a perfect telephonic voice made film records for the new dialing mechanism. She made a film for each of the ten numerals and exchanges.

The films are wound on drums and operation of the dial starts the proper drum for each numeral and exchange.

BANDIT GANG ROB BANK OF $105,000 IN CASH AND SECURITIES

Jefferson, Wis., Nov. 8—(U.P.)—Squads of vigilantes returned empty handed today after spending the night roaring over highways in search of a bandit band which held up the Merchants Bank here Thursday and escaped with $105,000 in cash and securities.

The most ironic phase of the robbery, perhaps, was the fact that police and citizens believed that the clanging of the burglar alarm, which recently was out of order and had become a familiar sound, was only another false cry of "wolf."

No definite clews of the bandit gang's whereabouts had been uncovered although it was thought they were from Milwaukee or Chicago.

SENATOR NORRIS RECOVERING FROM MINOR INJURIES

Washington, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Senator George W. Norris, Rep., Neb., is recovering from minor injuries he suffered when struck by an auto late yesterday. Norris was walking from the capitol building to the senate office building when a car driven by Milton G. Wood, 31, struck him.

Norris received only minor bruises and declined hospital treatment. Wood, arrested on a reckless driving charge, is held under $300 bond.

RUN UP PRICES FROM FRACTIONS TO TWO POINTS AT NEW YORK

HEAVY TRADING OF YESTERDAY'S FIRST HOUR IS LACKING

By ELMER C. WALZER
(United Press Financial Editor)

New York, Nov. 8.—Traders started bidding in stocks at the opening of the market today, running up prices from fractions to two points, but the heavy trading of yesterday's first hour was lacking.

Instead of the 10,000 and 20,000 share blocks which rolled out on the ticker yesterday, the opening today found blocks of only 3,000 to 6,000 shares being exchanged.

An idea of the sharp falling off in volume of business is given by the sales total in the first half hour. This was 877,300 shares, a decrease of 1,523,000 shares from the 2,400,500 shares in the same period yesterday.

Traders were pleased with this decline on the theory that the market had borne the brunt of selling and was now entering a period of quiet readjustment.

The lighter trading, many explained was due to necessity of cleaning up liquidation.

Many of the traders, who started bidding in early, were cheered by the big recovery which set in late yesterday—a recovery that pulled the market from new lows for the year—and also by the decrease of $658,000,000 in broker's loans.

New York, Nov. 8.—The stock market settled down today to an orderliness that has not been seen in two weeks or more.

Prices moved in a narrow range, with a majority of them slightly higher than yesterday's close, and trading was far under the tremendously hectic half hour and hourly tradings of the past two weeks.

SELVIG MAY ENTER RACE FOR GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The St. Paul Daily News said today that Rep. Conrad C. Selvig of Crookston may enter the race for the republican nomination as governor in the 1930 election.

Rep. Selvig is serving his second term in congress, having twice defeated his predecessor, Knud Wefald of Hawley.

To Close Stock Exchange at 1 P. M. Every Day

New York, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Board of governors of the New York Stock exchange today voted to close the exchange at 1 p. m. every day next week and to suspend trading on next Saturday, Nov. 16.

This is the same schedule that was maintained this week.

MINK ON RAMPAGE ANNIHILATES CATS OF DANIEL HAMLET

Daniel, Wyo., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—This sleepy hamlet in the heart of the spreading Green river valley was catless today, after a mischievous male mink had annihilated every tabby that crossed his path.

A check revealed there was not a cat to be found within many miles.

The mink, a fugitive from a mink farm, entered a box trap for a siesta after his destructive mission and was captured.

FRENCH PASSENGER PLANE IS WRECKED NEAR LOUVRES

NONE OF PASSENGERS KILLED, BUT SEVERAL WERE INJURED SERIOUSLY

PILOT CUTS CONTACT AND PREVENTS FIRE AFTER CRASH

Paris, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—A French passenger plane from Brussels, carrying 12 passengers, pilot and mechanic, crashed in a fog near Louvres today.

None of the passengers was killed but several were injured seriously and were sent to hospitals in Paris.

The big passenger plane overturned after the pilot had leveled it off just above the ground. He was unable to see the fields because of the fog. The pilot cut the contact, thus preventing a fire after the crash.

Louvres is about 10 miles beyond the northwestern suburbs of Paris.

The plane was enroute to LeBourget field near Paris, where it was due at 2:30 P. M.

Two planes left Brussels, both filled to capacity with passengers. Neither plane arrived at LeBourget.

The accident occurred between the villages of Louvres and Vemars. Because of the heavy fog the floodlights were turned on at LeBourget field in case the second plane finds its way there, but it is feared that the second plane also was forced down by the fog.

Paris, Nov. 8. — A heavy fog over Belgium and France forced three Brussels-to-Paris planes, loaded with passengers, to make emergency landings today.

No lives were lost, and only a few of the occupants of the planes were injured.

Officials at LeBourget were informed unofficially that the second Paris-bound plane, carrying 11 passengers, was forced to land in a garden near Tervueren, not far from Brussels. Three passengers were reported to have been injured but LeBourget officials could not confirm the report.

NORTHWEST PAPER CO. BIDS $500,000 FOR TIMBER, ETC.

INVOLVES SAW TIMBER AND PULPWOOD IN SUPERIOR NATIONAL FOREST

PURCHASE COVERS 3,000-ACRE AREA, ONLY MARKED TREES ARE TO BE CUT

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—(U.P.) — A bid of $500,000 for 42,500,000 board feet of saw timber and 308,000 cords of pulpwood in the Superior National Forest has been accepted by E. W. Tinker, federal district forester here.

The bid was by the Northwest Paper Company of Cloquet, Minn., and purchases timber over a 3,000 acre area. The sale is the largest ever made by the government in this district, Tinker said.

Tinker explained that only those trees marked by the forestry department are to be cut and that 30 per cent of the merchantable timber and all young growths will be reserved.

TRIES OUT PLANE EQUIPPED WITH 2 HELIOCOPTERS

Milwaukee, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—With the aid of two 19 foot heliocopters Victor Allison, West Palm Beach, Fla., pilot lifted a Milwaukee-made airplane 1,000 feet into the air in 15 minutes yesterday. The heliocopters, invented by the plane's owner, Jess Johnson of Deiray, Fa., are located directly below the two wings of the plane and operated independently of the propeller. Allison said he intended to fly the plane to New York next week.

IS REVERSED BY INDEPENDENT COALITION GROUP

EXTRAORDINARY TARIFF OVERTURN IS CONTINUING IN THE SENATE

PIG IRON, MANGANESE, STRUCTURAL STEEL FEEL EFFECTS OF CHANGE MADE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 8. — The metals schedule, heart of the industrial rates of the tariff bill, has been severely reversed by the independent republican-democratic coalition which is gathering more strength from the so-called regular republicans as the extraordinary tariff overturn continues in the senate.

Pig iron, manganese and structural steel rate programs fixed by the senators from industrial regions in the senate finance committee have been completely overturned on the floor by the coalitionists.

The situation has added further credence to the possibility that the republicans may wreck their own tariff bill in conference with the house after it passes the senate.

Citing the $742,000,000 profits of the United States Steel Corporation during the last 7 years and the $930,181,000 profits of the whole American steel industry, as revealed in the income tax figures of the treasury department, the coalition made the following changes in the three big items of the metals section:

The protective rate of $1.12½ on pig iron, which the steel companies manufacture for their own use, has been cut to 75 cents a ton, over the protests of senators from steel districts who wanted $1.50 a ton.

The present rate has been set by the tariff commission acting under the flexible tariff provision a year ago.

Manganese ore, used by the steel corporations in manufacturing steel, was taken from the free list and subjected to a duty of 1 cent a pound. The proposed increase in protection for structural steel was eliminated. The industrialists wanted three-tenths of a cent a pound instead of one-fifth of a cent, which would be an increase of 50 per cent and a very high duty.

Senators from the industrial sections point out privately that the new rates are much worse from their standpoint than the present law which they agree is generally "a good law." Their inclination therefore is naturally swung toward complete abandonment of the present bill and retention of the law now in force.

While efforts to limit debate and force early action have been successful in many instances, there is no reason to believe now that the bill can be passed by the senate before the regular session of congress begins, and most of the leaders now believe senate action cannot be concluded before January.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The appellation "sons of wild jackasses," which the prominent republican Senator George Moses of New Hampshire applied to western republicans in a dinner speech here last night, provoked a reply from the westerners in the senate today which senatorial historians say was without precedent for bitterness and personal invective.

The dry Iowa independent, Senator Brookhart, started the exchange by saying with a frankness which astounded the senate that the oratorical eloquence of Moses apparently was unimpaired by the elimination of liquor at such dinners as Moses attended last night.

The climax was reached when Sen. George W. Norris, Nebraska independent-republican, called Joseph R. Grundy of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association "a robber."

Likening Grundy's activities against the importers to the Chicago bootleg gang war, Norris suggested the consumers would be better off if the government furnished both sides sawed off shotguns and let them fight it out.

"These wealthy people go to church every Sunday," Norris said in conclusion. "They give checks to charity which sometimes is made necessary by their business methods.

"They sing: 'Bring forth the diadem and crown Him Lord of all.' Then they leave the church and if the lowly Nazarene came to their counting houses next day to find out how they were making their money they would kick him out in the back alley."

Senator Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, resented a statement by Republican Floor Leader Tilson of the house, criticizing the senate.

"I question the propriety of the republican floor leader undertaking to lecture the senate of the United States on its procedure," he told the senate.

"He might as well know that if there is to be no tariff bill unless it complies with the measure that came from the house, there will be no tariff bill if we can prevent it."

In the first vote of the day, the coalition overuled the senate finance committee, 43 to 29, reducing the duty on wood screws, of iron or steel, from 45 to 25 per cent.

Behind the Bars for Bootleg Boats

Shorn of their glamour, these bootlegger's boats, modern galleons of adventure are shown as they were brought to an ingnominious roost behind the bars. They are being held prisoners by the United States Border Patrol, of Detroit, in the first "boat-jail" in America.

They also spent some time in Washington and New York. Dr. Lund was formerly on the staff of the Northwestern hospital in Brainerd.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS GENERALLY GOOD

Trunk highways of Minnesota are reported generally good, in the weekly road condition report issued by the State Highway department today. Gravel roads which were rough or soggy due to the rain and snow last week, have been restored to normal condition.

The last of the detours on T. H. No. 12 has been discontinued and pavement is now open all the way from Chaska to Brownton, except a two mile gap which will be paved next spring. This gap, however, is well graveled.

The new bridge on No. 35 at Aitkin has been opened to traffic and the detour discontinued.

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Detroit Lakes, fair—Hawley, paved—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles—Elk River, good—Milaca, rough—Onamia, good—Brainerd.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles—Paved.

Gilbert Lake Home Management Club

The Gilbert Lake Home Management club held its second meeting on Thursday afternoon, November 7 at the home of Mrs. Lovsted. The lesson for this meeting was on "Healthful Kitchens."

A great deal of praise was given Mrs. Miller, Leader No. 1 for the able manner in which she gave her part of the lesson, which was on light regulation and adjusting of the heights of kitchen furniture. Following the meeting, a lunch was served. Seven members and two visitors were present.

The next meeting of the club will be held on December 12, at the home of Mrs. C. H. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Benton Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Benton entertained a few friends at a farewell party at their home last evening in honor of Mrs. Pat Jannotta of Chicago, who is in the city visiting with her father Albin Mohler. Mrs. Jannotta leaves tomorrow for her home.

Luther League Meets

Nearly 50 people attended the meeting of the Luther League last evening at the Clara Lutheran church. A good program was featured by several piano solos and a talk by the minister. A luncheon was served.

For instructions in the new art plaques, oil paintings, etc., register at Kracher's Millinery, 717 Laurel street. Mrs. Nellie Voss of Aitkin will conduct classes here Tuesday and Wednesday of each week. An exhibit is at present in place at Kracher's Millinery.

A New Door needed on the Back Porch

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look musty. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. THE HIGH-TEST COAL THAT REDUCES FURNACE-FUSSING

FORD POND CREEK COAL

Product of the Ford Motor Company

THERE ARE THREE FEATURES in Ford Pond Creek Coal which contribute to your assurance of more heat and less trouble with your furnace. It is high-test coal, longer burning. Carefully graded for size, so good coal won't drop through the grate into your ash pit. And clean, picked over by expert men who remove the impurities that clog your grate and contribute no heat.

Ford Coal comes from mines purchased by the Ford Motor Company after chemical analysis showed the better grade of the fuel. In its production the high and inflexible Ford quality standards are maintained. Due to its inherent quality, Ford Coal will not clinker.

Try Ford Pond Creek Coal and see how it gives you more heat with less furnace-fussing and less cost. Phone us for prices.

Selling Gopher Yearbooks

ALL manner of sales arguments are employed and advertising campaigns conducted to sell the year books of schools and colleges. Brainerd high school has evolved many stunts to call attention to and maintain interest in its coming annual.

The Gopher Senior class yearbook committee figured on enlisting comedy chorus girls to sell their book and this ruling was handed down by those in high authority:

Kissing, even though it be professional, has no part in higher learning, said the Minnesota University officials, as they thwarted plans to have musical comedy chorus girls donate one kiss to each male purchaser of the Gopher, Senior class book.

Entertain For House Guests

Mesdames Hattie Parker, R. T. Campbell and R. J. Hartley, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Robertson and Mrs. J. G. Heald, entertained a second group of friends Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Parker, 412 North Fourth street, for her house guests from Rochester and St. Paul.

A dainty and most palatable menu was served at seven, and the discriminating artistry of decoration and appointments which distinguished Tuesday's bridge luncheon was again employed for the ten tables, the color note this time being the pink and white of exquisite pink tea roses, white chrysanthemums and white linens.

The first prize for the bridge playing which occupied the evening was given to Mrs. R. J. Tinkelpaugh, the second to Mrs. Margaret Dougherty. A spirit of gay informality and good fellowship prevailed among the guests, helping the hostesses to make this one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. Maud Hooper Knapp, graciously yielding to the importunities of her friends of former days, and playing her own accompaniment on the piano, sang two beautiful songs in the contralto voice whose remembered loveliness has been so richly enhanced in strength and mellow beauty by the passing years.

"Slim Fingers" Thrills With Underworld Drama

The Art of Plaque Painting

The revival of one of the oldest of arts offers the modern woman an opportunity for self-expression and skill that is both interesting and profitable.

The latest development in this new art, the introduction of Stonite (real stone composition), gives an added value, and many more years of service to these things of beauty.

Not only are these art objects valuable as gifts and make beautiful home decorations, but they provide an outlet for talent in design and painting that the modern woman enjoys.

One of the better known art teachers will hold classes in our store all next week, starting Nov. 11, giving free instruction to you and your friends. She will teach many of the newer ideas which provide a very easy, yet attractive way to decorate these beautiful objects of art.

We feel quite fortunate in having this artist with us and we know that you will enjoy every moment you spend in her classes.

Bring the younger folks, too—they learn very quickly.

There is an attractive display of the art work in our window now.

Come and bring your friends.

HAWKEYES PLAN FIRST BLACK MARK ON GOPHER RECORD

CONTEND IOWA IS BETTER THAN IT HAS SHOWN

ANXIOUS TO MAKE UP FOR BAD EARLY SHOWING BY TRAMPLING MINNESOTA

EXPERTS, HOWEVER, BANK ON MINNESOTA TO WIN IN GAME AT IOWA CITY TOMORROW

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Contending that their team is better than it has shown, the Iowa Hawkeyes tomorrow will attempt to put the first black mark on Minnesota's 1929 record in one of the feature games of a day of football which sends leading middle western outfits into three intersectional affairs and four fights between themselves.

The Hawkeyes, already defeated and tied, have slight hopes of sharing in the Big Ten conference title, but they are anxious to make up for their bad early showing by trampling Minnesota, one of the best teams in this section.

While these two are playing at Iowa city, other middlewestern leaders will be engaged in the following contests: Wisconsin at Chicago; Northwestern at Ohio State; Harvard at Michigan; Army at Illinois; Mississippi at Purdue; and Drake vs. Notre Dame in Chicago.

While Iowa figures to lose to Minnesota, the other two Big Ten conference games should be close. In meeting Ohio State, Northwestern runs up against an outfit which has not lost a conference game but has been tied once. The Evanston team has lost to Minnesota but any team is likely to lose to the Gophers and it would not be surprising if Ohio State receives its first setback tomorrow.

Wisconsin has been unable to get started all year. Rated at the start of the season as a championship possibility, the Badgers have played poorly. On the other hand, Chicago has won from Indiana and Princeton, among others, and has lost only to Purdue, another one of those teams likely to beat most any opposition. Purdue is the only team besides Minnesota which has an unmarred record in the Big Ten.

Tomorrow the Boilermakers play Mississippi and they are favored to add another victory to their record. Boasting a backfield of four stars who can do anything necessary for a backfield to do Purdue presents a hard offensive to down.

Illinois-Army is a hard one to figure. Each team has been defeated and each team has been tied. Albie Booth and Yale downed the Army and Northwestern defeated Illinois. The Illini were tied by Iowa and Harvard fought the Army to a standstill.

Harvard figures to win from Michigan, even though the latter team has spent two weeks in preparing for the game. The Wolverines have lost consistently and they appear to possess few scoring threats.

The contest here between Notre Dame and Drake should result in a Notre Dame victory. Drake reportedly has a good team but the superior reserve strength and football ability of the Irish should send Drake back home with a defeat registered against it.

This game is Notre Dame's last before meeting Southern California and the Irish probably won't work any harder than they have to, preferring to conserve their energy for the harder game next week-end.

WILL TACKLE DANGEROUS RIVALS A WEEK HENCE

OLD ELI EXPECTS TO WIN, EVEN WITH ALBIE BOOTH ON SIDELINES

JAP DOUDS, CRACK W. AND J. TACKLE, MAY GIVE PITT ELEVEN TROUBLE

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 8. — Three of the east's football leaders — Yale, Pittsburgh and Cornell—have slight breathing spells in their schedules tomorrow before they tackle dangerous rivals a week hence.

After beating Brown, Army and Dartmouth on successive Saturdays, Yale anticipates less trouble from Maryland at New Haven. Maryland beat Yale last year, 6 to 0, and has eight of the 1928 veterans back, but Old Eli expects to win, even with Albie Booth resting on the sidelines most of the game.

With the Princeton and Harvard games following the Maryland invasion, Yale will conserve as much strength as possible for the two traditional foes.

Pittsburgh, one of the east's two unbeaten and untied teams, plays W. & J. at Pittsburgh but is looking a week ahead to the annual game with Carnegie Tech on November 16. W. & J. is undefeated but has been held to scoreless ties by Carnegie Tech and Temple, both beaten.

Jap Douds, crack W. & J. tackle, may give the Pitt eleven considerable trouble as it will be remembered that he played one of his greatest games last year against the Panthers.

Pitt, however, is pointing for Carnegie Tech, which handed the Panthers a 6 to 0 defeat last season.

Cornell, without a defeat or tie on its record but without an outstanding victory, meets Western Reserve from Cleveland, O., at Ithaca. With Dartmouth as next week's opponent, Cornell is expected to use reserves and save its regulars as much as possible.

Two of the east's big teams—Army and Harvard—invade the middle west for a game against Big Ten competition. Army plays Illinois at Urbana and Harvard meets Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Among the other important eastern games are the Dartmouth-Brown game at Providence, Penn-Penn State game at Philadelphia, Navy-Georgetown at Annapolis, and Boston College-Fordham at Boston.

An intersectional game of promise brings together New York University and Georgia, conqueror of Yale, 15-0, at Yankee Stadium. In another intersectional game Detroit, unbeaten since 1927 but tied last week by Marquette, will play West Virginia at Morgantown.

Princeton meets Lehigh, which pushed Penn to win, 10-7, at Princeton. Princeton has won only one game this season, the first of the year from Amherst, 7-0.

The Columbia-Colgate game at New York and the Bucknell-Villa Nova game at Scranton, Pa.; the Little Three game between Wesleyan and Williams complete the list of outstanding eastern engagements.

Speed Spirit Stamina

beyond anything you have ever known at its price

Watch the Pontiac Big Six on the open road, revealing top speeds such as no other car in its field can match. See it leap eagerly ahead at a green light, accelerating with unrivaled snap and spirit. . . . The Pontiac Big Six is equally far ahead of its field in stamina and long life, due to such wear-resisting features as crankcase ventilation which prevents dilution of engine oil—positive full pressure lubrication at all speeds—and the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional vibration in the crankshaft. . . . And in addition Pontiac gives you more style, comfort and safety, in smart, luxurious, distinctive bodies by Fisher—and greater economy, not alone in first cost but in operation and maintenance. . . . Come in today and see how much more Pontiac offers on any basis of comparison. And learn how easily you can own and enjoy the finest car the market affords at its low price.

"RED" McCAFFREY CAPTURES SHOW

Brainerd Star Further Adds Glory to Himself in Title Role of "Corporal Eagen"

ARMY LIFE DEPICTED

Features Include Minstrels, Soldier and Sailor Chorus and Patriotic Pageant

Right now is the proper time to say a few words about a certain red haired young man in Brainerd. He is known as "Red" McCaffrey, Francis Leo Patrick McCaffrey if you please, and he ran away with that show last night.

"Corporal Eagen" was a mighty good home talent production. But it became a wow with Mr. McCaffrey in the title role. His natural ability as an actor fitted him as the outstanding choice for the part. It was done to a perfection.

A packed assemblage in the U. C. T. auditorium last evening attested to the fact that home talent productions are a drawing power. This particular home talent was, without criticism to others, the best home product show staged in this city in years.

Packed with screams from start to finish it restored faith of the public in shows produced locally thorugh the assistance of a professional director. There was not one weak performer in the large cast. It was carried through without a hitch. Much credit for its success is due Miss Majorie Smith of the Universal Producing Co.

Mr. McCaffrey's superb acting in the comedy success was largely responsible for the enthusiastic performance of all parts. His vivacity acted as a tonic to all members of the cast and encouraged them to their best efforts.

James Tinkelpaugh as Izzy Goldstein, buddy to "Red" makes a big hit as the Jewish American doughboy whose father runs a store on Thoidy Thoid street.

The production is a story of army life and the scene is laid on the Company's streets with an army barracks as a background. The show takes place during the late war and the principal characters are rookies who have been in camp only 30 days. The lead character, "Red" Eagen who afterwards becomes a corporal is an Irish American doughboy and is a very brave fellow when alone but is very much frightened when anything happens. His Jewish buddy, Izzy Goldstein is also a big hit and around these two characters all the comedy revolves. Red Eagen has a mania for getting a promotion, but through a lot of dumb tricks on his part he and his buddy are thrown on K. P. and have to peel potatoes. Red told his girl Sally, played by Miss Marguerite O'Brien, that he was a Captain in the army and she comes down to see his new uniform and finds him on K. P. He tries to hide and Izzy makes love to Sally much to Red's discomfort. About this time the guards are looking for a spy who is in camp poisoning the food and Sally is mistaken for the spy. She is caught and thrown in the guard house. To save Sally, Red and Izzy conduct a hunt for the spy and by accident while Red in on guard duty the spy is captured. He is promoted to corporal and his girl released. About this time the Armistice is signed and a happy ending is recorded.

"Corporal Eagen" is not only a play with a lot of action and comedy and with musical numbers but also portrays some of the regular army scenes that were staged in any army camp The show opens with a reveille with all the men early in the morning to make this formation. The top sergeant played by George Sweet commands this formation and he is plenty tough In the third act when Red becomes a corporal he drills his squad and proclaims them the worst army he had ever seen. His so-called awkward squad put on a real drill and they all but fall over the footlights. One of the sensational dramatic spots of the show is the guard scene at the beginning of the third act. The house is dark ,only for the flitting of a flashlight now and then across the stage Red Eagen is the sentinel and it is at this time that he captures the spy.

The big patriotic pageant opening curtain raiser is a unique feature. About 200 youngsters form this big flash of color and patriotism with Dr A. K. Cohen in soldier uniform giving the special reading "My Dream of the Big Parade."

The specialty numbers in the show are in themselves worth the price of admission. The choruses of soldiers, sailors, the Darktown Shufflin' Gals do some clever hits with the Deacon Jones Minstrels furnishing the merriment.

Song numbers included "Show Boat" by the girls' chorus, "Rose of No Man's Land" by Mrs. Ray Hall, "A Sailor's Sweetheart" by John Smith and chorus, "Do, Do Something" by Mrs. Laurence Ericsson and "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "Over There," "How Ya' Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm." Ray Nelson did a tap dance that brought loud applause.

The show will be repeated for the last time tonight. A sell out is expected.

The cast of characters, choruses follow:

"JULIUS CAESAR" TO BE PRESENTED

To be Given at U. C. T. Hall on Tuesday, November 12, by Professional Company

BENEFIT HIGH SCHOOL

Money Derived to go Into Piano Fund, Grand Piano to be Purchased

The Shakespeare players are presenting "Julius Caesar" in the U. C. T. hall on Tuesday, November 12, at 8 P. M. for the benefit of the piano fund for the new high school. Glee clubs for a number of years have been adding to the fund started by Marion Opsahl, so that the new school might have a grand piano.

The Shakespeare players presented the play in 11 states last year, and come with glowing newspaper accounts of their ability and charm.

Following are a few of the newspaper comments:

". . . Shakespeare, admirably executed and acted by professional players, is now available at a reasonable price. The Shakespeare Players' production is a gratifying piece of work. They are studied in their lines and interpret them so that the beauty and dignity of thought of Shakespeare's great historical tragedy can be truly appreciated. They are doing a real service in bringing Shakespeare within the reach of the student and those of us who wish to see worthwhile drama, but who cannot frequently meet the demands of the box office."—Merrill B. Sherman, The Stanton-Loomis Preparatory Academy.

Forceful and elequent performance. —Grand Rapids Herald.

Those who did not see the presentation of Julius Caesar, by the Shakespeare Players in the Cameo theatre last evening, missed the finest acting that Highland has ever been privileged to see—Poughkeepsie Evening Star.

I have seen, I suppose, 50 performances of various Shakespearean plays, and I have no hesitancy in saying that yours was the finest I have ever seen. —Sam L. Greenwood, Baldwin-Wallace College.

PLAN PRESENTATION OF NEW THEATRE

Opening of $150,000 Publix Amusement Center Set for Dec. 15

Western Electric Equipment to be Installed at Large Expense

When the new Publix theatre is completed here Brainerdites and visitors from a large area will have an opportunity of attending a theatre that will be rated among the finest in the northwest, a theatre of atmospheric type.

Every effort is being made to complete the $150,000 theatre on Front street in time for the tentative official opening on December 15.

To assist in preparations for the opening, Elmer Wheeler, Publix official with headquarters at New York, came to the city Wednesday.

The work of presenting the theatre to the public in a manner properly due will be accomplished by George Irwin, local manager, and Mr. Wheeler.

Floating clouds, twinkling stars and the general effect of a midsummer evening in Minnesota will form the atmosphere of the interior.

The sound equipment to be installed will be the best that money can buy, officials reported. Such equipment will be furnished by Western Electric. cost of $20,000.

All talking feature productions will be offered, these to be rehearsed daily previous to showing to insure perfect sound reproduction, Mr. Irwin reports.

Talkies to be shown at the theatre soon after the formal opening include "Gold Diggers of Broadway," a lavish spectacle of gay Broadway life, "Sweetie" current production featuring Nancy Carroll and Jack Oakie, "The Virginian," "The Mighty" with George Bancroft, "Welcome Danger," Harold Lloyd's talking scream, "Why Bring That Up," with Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows.

PRESERVING HIGH SCHOOL

Hi-Y Club Discusses Means of Preventing Marking and Scratching

The outstanding matter of Wednesday's meeting of the Hi-Y club at the Y. M. C. A. was discussion and means of keeping the new high school building from being marked and scratched by careless individuals. After much discussion on the matter, in which members recalled how badly obliterated the walls were in parts of the old building, it was believed that the Hi-Y club could do a great piece of work for the community and school by instilling a spirit of loyalty into the student body to be careful in its use of the new building. It is planned to have a student rally in the near future at which time the Hi-Y members will present its objective.

Popular Organists Find New Toasting Process Gives Coffee Richer Flavor

Cup for Cup Comparison Shows Coffee Toasted By Newly Discovered Nash Process Develops Richer Flavor Than Coffee Roasted By Old-Fashioned Method. Popular Organists Note Difference Immediately Upon Tasting Two Coffees Side By Side.

Eddie Dunstedter Makes Comparison

Mr. Dunstedter was given two cups of coffee, one prepared from coffee toasted by the new Nash process, the other prepared from the same coffee roasted by ordinary methods. The two cups were marked in a manner unknown to Mr. Dunstedter. He was asked to taste the two coffees and indicate which possessed the richest, deepest and most satisfying flavor. After a moment or two of sampling each cup, he selected the one prepared from Nash's Toasted Coffee.

Commenting on the comparison Mr. Dunstedter exclaimed: "What a difference! The added richness is apparent at once. I don't know what makes the difference, whether it is the toasting or what, but I can't understand how anyone can make this comparison and not be immediately conscious of increased and richer flavor in toasted coffee. To me it was apparent at the first sip."

Picks Toasted Coffee Immediately

Wade Hamilton, concert organist, Ritz Theatre, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and KVOO artist, making the same comparison. Mr. Hamilton picked the cup of coffee prepared from Nash's Toasted Coffee at once. He said: "The Nash toasting process develops a coffee which possesses not only a deeper flavor, but its body is smoother and more winy than any coffee I have ever tasted. Toasting has brought a great advance to fine coffee, and as a lover of good coffee, I congratulate you on it."

Not From One District—But From All Over The World—Come The Choice Coffees For Toasting By The New Nash Process

(To the left.) In all parts of the world, in those districts where the finest coffees are grown, men and women are in the fields picking coffee to be shipped to the Nash Coffee Company. No one district is relied upon. Climatic conditions are bound to vary, and coffee experts know that an unfavorable season affects the quality of coffee. One crop from a certain district may be very fine—the next picking may be poor.

For this reason, The Nash Coffee Company selects its coffees from all high quality growing coffee districts of the world. Yet more than 90% of all coffees tested for consideration are rejected because they do not meet the high standard demanded for Nash's Toasted Coffee.

In these columns, several weeks ago, announcement was made of a new epoch-making process for developing coffee flavor. It was none other than toasting, instead of roasting, the coffee berry.

The fierce, direct heat of old fashioned roasting, it was reported, evaporates a large percentage of the flavor producing aromatic oils, resulting in coffees thin and flat in flavor, their most delicious flavor "roasted out."

The new toasting process, it was further reported, actually seals the surface of the coffee berry, retaining in each berry the maximum of these oils. Toasting was later reported by the Van Cleve Laboratories, members of the American Chemical Association and outstanding food chemists, to develop 35.7% more flavor than could be developed from the same coffee when roasted.

Organists Make Comparison

Now comes news that three of America's most popular organists have made a "cup for cup" comparison of coffee prepared by the new toasting process and the same coffee roasted. They declare that the toasting process produces an increased richness and depth of flavor, which gives a startling new flavor experience.

Musicians have acutely developed senses. Is their sense of taste as subtly developed as those of touch and hearing? Larry Goldberg, of Loew's Lexington Avenue Theatre, New York, Eddie Dunstedter, of Minneapolis, and Wade Hamilton of the Ritz Theater, Tulsa, were the three organists to make the comparison.

These three artists were each given two cups of coffee, one prepared from coffee toasted by the new process, the other from the same coffee roasted. The cups were marked in a way unknown to the men. They were merely asked to taste the two coffees and select the one which, to them, possessed the most satisfying flavor.

All three picked Nash's Toasted Coffee immediately.

"The flavor of this coffee," remarked Mr. Goldberg after a moment's tasting, "seems to linger longer than that of any I have ever before tasted."

Mr. Dunstedter thought for a moment and then exclaimed, "What a difference! The added richness is apparent at once. I do not see how anybody can make such a comparison without being surprised at the increase in flavor. To me it is apparent at the first sip."

Mr. Hamilton took several minutes to carefully compare each with the other and then said, "The flavor is richer and more luxuriant, and in addition the body is smoother and more winy than any coffee I have ever tasted. Toasting has brought a great advance, and as a lover of good coffee, I congratulate you on it."

Popular Organist in Characteristic Pose

At the Instrument with a Thousand Voices

Make This Comparison Yourself

The opinion of others is never so convincing as your own experience. Why not determine for yourself the added flavor delight which the new toasting process has brought to coffee, by making the Nash "cup for cup" comparison yourself.

Just order a pound of Nash's Toasted Coffee from your grocer today. Prepare two pots of coffee—one from Nash's Toasted Coffee, the other from the roasted coffee you are now using. Be sure to use the same amount of coffee in each, and the same amount of cream and sugar, if it is your custom.

Place the two cups of coffee before members of your family. Do not tell them which is the toasted coffee and which is the roasted coffee. Merely ask them to tell you which has the richest, truest flavor, the most delicious fragrance.

Most people will be instantly conscious of a startling new flavor experience when tasting toasted coffee for the first time, just as these popular organists were.

This Can Identifies The Only Coffee Toasted By The Newly Discovered Process

Nash's Toasted Coffee—the only coffee toasted by the newly discovered process—may now be obtained from your grocer. The price is no higher than that of ordinary roasted coffee. Nash's Toasted Coffee does not require a special method of preparation—you prepare it just as you do other coffees, either in percolators, pots or other standard contrivances. Nash's Toasted Coffee is never sold in bulk. You may identify the only genuine Nash's Toasted Coffee on your grocer's shelf by the red and gold can shown above.

"Eddie" and "Larry"

"The Flavor of This Coffee Lingers Longer"

Larry Goldberg, of Loew's Lexington Avenue Theatre, New York, making the Nash "cup for cup" comparison. Mr. Goldberg's first remark, after tasting both coffees several times was: "This coffee"—indicating with his spoon the cup prepared from Nash's Toasted Coffee—"has a flavor that lingers two or three times longer than the other. The flavor is not flat or thin—it is richer, and it lingers longer."

THE MASKED HOSTESS

At dinner Nathalie sat next to the lion among her aunt's guests, a Captain Stefano from the Argentine, and the season's most sensational polo player. She understood that she was beside him only because one of her cousins was on his other side, and that she had been placed where she was only so that her cousin could have him to herself. But Stefano refused to follow the line laid out for him when he learned what Natalie's father had been.

"Jack Van Slaick's only daughter. "Oh, I say—look here—"

Stefano had been educated at Oxford University and spoke English like a cultured Englishman.

"Jack Van Slaick's daughter — but this is ripping. By jove, you know—why Jack was the greatest polo player in the world."

"I know you, of course," he declared a moment afterward. "Why, I saw you dance once at a costume ball at San Sebastian. I'm not likely to forget it, I can promise you."

Saying which he addressed his hostess direct and began holding forth on his favorite topic, which was that polo players and dancers, and tennis players and great boxers, were born and not made, and of course the daughter of an inspired polo star, like Jack Van Slaick, would be the superlative dancer that she was.

"Runs in the blood, what?" he insisted. "Of course, the dear girl's a marvel. Inherited co-ordination of mind, eye and limb. Like begets like. You can't get away from it."

He poured forth more, for sport, with polo highest in the sport list, was a veritable religion with him. His hostess was charming with him, agreeing with every word he said, and behind her mask of graciousness ready to rend him limb from limb.

For she had not invited him to her house to be enthusiastic over Nathalie but to pay court and devotion to one of her daughters, who was a very nice girl and thoroughly afraid of her mother. Stefano was not only the season's sport sensation, but was understood also to be a great matrimonial catch.

With his exotic air and his English accent he was something to assail any girl's imagination. He had remained in the United States after the polo team, which he had accompanied from Argentina, had played its series of games at Meadowbrook and gone home. He had announced that he would remain on Long Island through the social season and various mothers of various daughters had determined that he would not return to Buenos Aires in his still single state.

Throughout society it was accepted that his wealth was almost beyond computation and that he was master by inheritance of leagues of pampas, countless cattle, mines in the Andes and railroads in Bolivia, Chile and Peru. The less he said of such matters himself the more he was rumored to possess them. And certainly the way he spent and entertained could hardly be achieved by any man whose pocketbook was less than limitless.

There was dancing after dinner, but on this score Mrs. Swayne defeated his outspoken intention. No, Nathalie could not join the dancing.

"Oh, but Captain Stefano, the dear child is in mourning. What can I do? You see it's quite impossible."

Stefano swallowed his disappointment like a sportsman and Nathalie at an unmistakable look from her aunt after the dancing had begun, said goodnight and went upstairs.

There were books in her room and she tried to read, but couldn't because she dreaded the interview with her aunt which she apprehended was coming. She knew without possibility of uncertainty that she was not welcome in the house in any case. The attention Stefano had bestowed upon her at dinner made matters desperate for her, for her aunt would never forgive it.

She thought of her father's words, "She can forgive any iniquity except that of not having money," and was aware that it was true in every syllable. Just before midnight Mrs. Swayne knocked at her door.

"Nathalie dear, I don't fully understand this. Some trunks have come here and I am told that they are yours. I don't understand who could have directed that they be brought here. Of course it was never you—you don't hvae to tell me that."

"Yes, Aunt Olivia, it was I who sent them. Lord Winston told me he wrote you don't have to tell me that."

Mrs. Swayne's brows lifted as though she had heard something never said between polite people.

"Lord Winston wrote me—yes. But that is not to say he consulted me."

"Did he need to? When he knew you knew I was penniless, with no place in the world to go but this?"

Her aunt yawned languidly and rose to go: "I see you are very tired. Perhaps in the morning you can tell me what I am to do about your trunks."

But in the morning not even the butler could tell her. All he could tell her was that Nathalie had left the house very early and gone on foot to the railroad station after refusing to let him send her there in one of the cars.

Because it was Saturday the train which bore Nathalie back to New York had only a scattering of passengers in it and she was the single occupant of the parlor car in which she rode.

She had bought a parlor car ticket automatically because she had always travelled by the best accommodations available. But as the train swept along her solitary situation increased the feeling of loneliness which had all but overwhelmed her as she had left her aunt's handsome house.

A feeling of dread at leaving its solid protection had possessed her as she had hurried out of it, even though she had remained in it overnight solely because she had not dared spend the hours between midnight and morning in the unsafe shelter of the railroad station. She had not slept nor even lain down—her mind had been in too frantic a state for that. And as she boarded her train she realized that the very fact that she had not occupied her bed would be misinterpreted against her—that her aunt would be furious at what she would consider Nathalie's "unpardonable effrontery."

"I can't go back there—ever," Nathalie told herself as the train ate up the miles, drawing steadily nearer the city where there was no one she could turn to either.

She knew that none of her other relatives would be in town at that season—the middle of September. She had mentally gone over the list of them during one of the calmer hours of her distracted night and the result had not encouraged her. She knew the rich and important ones would have excuses, if they were at home at all, when she called up their various country houses. And that the poorer and kinder ones—there were only a few of them—were all living abroad because of the lowered cost of living there since the war.

(To be continued tomorrow.)

Moorhead, Minn., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—R. J. Miller, suspected forger who escaped at Fargo, N. D., Sunday after he had been brought there from Butte, Mont., was arrested here yesterday, police announced.

Miller escaped in Fargo when he leaped from the window of a moving train, assertedly to avoid charges of cashing valueless checks.
